PAST PERFORMANCE IS NOT INDICATIVE OF FUTURE RESULTS

The information in this section has been provided to BHM by BHCM. Derived from data calculated by BHCM, based on total performance data for each period provided by BHMF's administrator, International Fund Services (Ireland) Limited ("IFS") and risk data provided by BHCM.

See "Notes" section below for definitions of underlying components.

Data estimated as at 30 April 2021.

The performance figures listed above, other than the performance figures for "MF Core", represent the actual returns of Class X Shares in each underlying fund in which the Fund invests. The Class X Shares in each underlying fund do not charge any performance or management fees. Management, performance and other fees and expenses are payable by BHM. BHM's investment in the Fund is subject to an operational services fee.

* The performance figures listed for "MF Core" represent returns from (i) direct capital allocations to individual traders, (ii) treasury trades placed for BHMF, (i) and (ii) each represented gross of all performance fees, management fees and the operational services fee (however net of all other fees and expenses payable by the Fund), and (iii) actual returns of Class X Shares in Brevan Howard AH Master Fund Limited, Brevan Howard TN Macro Master Fund Limited and BH Digital Asset Fund Limited (see above paragraph for fee characteristics of Class X Shares in underlying funds).

BH Macro Limited Shareholder Report

Performance Overview

The NAV per share of BHM's USD shares appreciated by 0.19% and the NAV per share of BHM's GBP shares appreciated by 0.18% in April 2021. FX trading was the main detractor from performance in April driven mostly by losses from trading in EUR and GBP, albeit these were partially offset by gains in EM currencies. Interest rate trading contributed positively overall with gains from long inflation positioning and losses from tactical directional and yield curve trading in the US. Long exposure to global commodities, credit and equity trading also contributed positively.

BH Macro Limited Shareholder Report

Manager's Market Review and Outlook

Market Commentary

US

Payroll employment unexpectedly slowed in April and the unemployment rate ticked up on an increase in those looking for work. Despite that setback, growth is on a torrid pace at the start of the current quarter propelled by reopening, fiscal stimulus and easy financial conditions. Bottlenecks are apparent throughout the entire supply chain and in a number of goods ranging from semiconductors to ketchup. As demand outstrips supply for a time, price inflation in goods and services can be expected to jump well above the Federal Reserve's 2% inflation target. The Fed has repeatedly emphasised that it's comfortable with such transitory inflation. It will take until the second half of the year and beyond to assess whether inflation becomes embedded in business and household expectations or dissipates. In Washington, the Biden administration fleshed out its plans for physical and human infrastructure which are presently in two different sizable legislative proposals. Negotiations on the legislative strategy and tactics will likely take up much of the summer.

UK

The vaccine rollout has continued at a solid pace with over two-thirds of the adult population now having received an initial dose, and a third fully vaccinated. Currently, the next stages in the reopening roadmap are likely to proceed as envisaged. The 'Super Thursday' round of local elections took place on 6 May, involving local council and mayoral elections in England, as well as the Scottish and Welsh parliamentary elections. Within England, the Conservatives made significant gains in regions associated with Labour's "Red Wall", however across the border Welsh Labour fared better and managed to secure half the seats in the Senedd. In the Holyrood elections, the SNP failed to win more than half the seats, but argue that there is a majority among pro-independence parties; they have announced that they will seek a referendum before the current Parliament ends.

EMU

EMU Q1 GDP contracted by -0.6% q/q, slightly more than expected by the ECB (-0.4%). Meanwhile, the EMU Flash Composite PMI strengthened again from 53.2 to 53.8 in April, consistent with an upcoming rebound in activity in Q2 (ECB forecast: 1.3% q/q). Albeit still elevated, EMU daily Covid cases appear to have peaked and are now moderating, while rollout of first dose vaccines continues to strengthen, but is lagging 1-2 months behind progress in the US and UK. EMU headline HICP inflation rose from 1.3% to 1.6% in April, as rising energy inflation offset a continued drop in core inflation, which fell back from 0.9% to 0.8%, a new low for the year. While ECB PEPP purchases have picked up from EUR 60bn in February to EUR 80bn in April - in response to the 11 March announcement that they would be conducted at a "significantly higher pace than during the first months of this year" - they have been insufficient to prevent an ongoing rise in EMU GDP-weighted 10yr bond yields.

Japan

Japan had escaped the worst of the Covid crisis to date, but now as much of the developed world is entertaining thoughts of re-openings and indoor gatherings, Japan is going the other way. Daily cases have doubled back to peak levels seen at the start of the year, and with a lag, the mortality rate has increased. Little of the country has received even a first dose of a vaccination. Prime Minister Suga extended through the end of May the state of emergency to cover six prefectures, including Tokyo and Osaka, accounting for a little under 40% of the country's personal consumption expenditures.

RISK FACTORS

Acquiring shares in BHM may expose an investor to a significant risk of losing all of the amount invested. Any person who is in any doubt about investing in BHM (and therefore gaining exposure to BHMF and the investment funds in which BHMF invests (together with BHMF “the Underlying Funds”)) should consult an authorised person specialising in advising on such investments. Any person acquiring shares in BHM must be able to bear the risks involved. These include the following:

- The Underlying Funds are speculative and involve substantial risk.
- The Underlying Funds will be leveraged and will engage in speculative investment practices that may increase the risk of investment loss. The Underlying Funds may invest in illiquid securities.
- Past results of each Underlying Fund’s investment manager(s) are not necessarily indicative of future performance of that Underlying Fund, and that Underlying Fund’s performance may be volatile.
- An investor could lose all or a substantial amount of his or her investment.
- An investment manager may have total investment and trading authority over an Underlying Fund and each Underlying Fund is dependent upon the services of its investment manager(s).
- Investments in the Underlying Funds are subject to restrictions on withdrawal or redemption and should be considered illiquid.
- The investment managers’ incentive compensation, fees and expenses may offset an Underlying Fund’s trading and investment profits.
- No Underlying Fund is required to provide periodic pricing or valuation information to investors with respect to individual investments.
- The Underlying Funds are not subject to the same regulatory requirements as mutual funds.
- A portion of the trades executed for the Underlying Funds may take place on foreign markets.
- The Underlying Funds are subject to conflicts of interest.
- Each Underlying Fund is dependent on the services of certain key personnel, and, were certain or all of them to become unavailable, an Underlying Fund may prematurely terminate.
- Each Underlying Fund’s managers will receive performance-based compensation. Such compensation may give such managers an incentive to make riskier investments than they otherwise would.
- An Underlying Fund may make investments in securities of issuers in emerging markets. Investment in emerging markets involve particular risks, such as less strict market regulation, increased likelihood of severe inflation, unstable currencies, war, expropriation of property, limitations on foreign investments, increased market volatility, less favourable or unstable tax provisions, illiquid markets and social and political upheaval.

The above summary risk factors do not purport to be a complete description of the relevant risks of an investment in shares in BHM or the Underlying Funds and therefore reference should be made to publicly available documents and information.
